

New Book 'Their Duty Done'

Four memorials commemorating 55 Staffordshire police officers who died during two world wars and those murdered on duty, have pride of place at Staffordshire Police Headquarters.

'Their Duty Done' gives a deeply moving account of each of those men. Author and former police officer David Baldwin tells their stories using original sources, meticulous research and a real determination that these former police officers should be remembered for what they did and who they were. Illustrated with more than 100 photographs and postcards, this book is a fitting tribute to the men and leaves the reader in no doubt their duty was indeed done. All profits to Canine Partners.
